1. Dr. Richard Mueller is the leading expert for silicones at the Chemische Fabrik von Heyden in Dresden-Radebeul.
2. In April 1952, the plant delivered various kinds of silicone products, including silicone varnishes for the insulation of generator wires for all types of electric generators and motors; silicone varnishes for treating surfaces; silicone varnishes for highly constant resistances for the Dralowid Werke of VVB RFT, Berlin-Teltow, and silicone varnishes for the insulation of carbonyl iron powder, also used as fixing agents.
3. While the production of commercial quantities of silicone varnishes met with difficulties, laboratory developmental and research work was accomplished.
